Democrats Fire Opening Salvo At GOP For 1954 Campaign

Attack Farm Price Inaction

Washington (AP) — Democrats have fired their first salvo of the 1954 congressional campaign by bombarding the administration's lack of action on falling farm prices but Republicans believe the attack is too early.

What has the Republicans really worried are the obvious plans of the Democrats to take advantage of any GOP failure to find a solution of the problem of trying to cut taxes and still balance the budget.

These two issues — farm prices and taxes — figure largely now in long-range Democratic planning for a terrific effort to regain control of at least one house of Congress next year.

Administration leaders apparently are betting that the farm problem will solve itself by an upturn in prices long before the voters go to the polls in November, 1954, to elect a new House and one third of the Senate.

That apparently is the stand Secretary of Agriculture Benson is taking in withholding thus far any government action to halt declining cattle prices.

That in itself was enough to give Democrats a base for political sniping, but when Benson said in a St. Paul, Minn., speech that price supports should be used as insurance against disaster and not to encourage uneconomic production, the Democrats opened up a concerted attack in the Senate.

The gist of their argument was that Benson planned to relegate the government support program to the level of "disaster insurance" only — a result they seem rather sure would not be pleasing to the farmers.

The Democratic attack was led by Southerners who apparently welcomed the opportunity to get back under the party tent with an issue on which most of their colleagues could unite.

Even if farm prices go up, Congress will have a wrestle next year with the issue of continuing crop supports at 90 per cent of parity, a fixed level calculated to give farmers a fair return for their products in relation to the things they buy.

Democrats Charge Lax Tax Action

Washington, (AP) — House Democrats charged yesterday the Eisenhower administration is shirking its duty by not taking a stand before the House Ways and Means Committee on income tax cuts.

"Why this is unheard-of — a perfectly unprecedented thing," protested Rep. Camp (D-Ga.), a veteran committee member.

The committee meets today with Chairman Reed (R-NY) driving hard for quick approval of his bill to reduce individual income tax rates 10 per cent starting July 1.

Informed sources said the Treasury has made no report to the committee on effects of the Reed bill, as is customary on tax proposals. Nor is the administration expected to have a representative at today's meeting.

Republican and Democratic leaders on the committee agreed, however, that a showdown now will bring a top-heavy committee vote for the Reed proposal.

But Democrats said they planned to step in with a move that the committee delay action until it hears from Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

Taft Calls For Delayed Action Tax Cut; Four Year Stabilization Of Present Prices

Washington (AP) — Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) suggested yesterday a delayed-action tax cut which would trim levies on individuals and business up to 13 per cent in the year beginning July 1, 1954.

At the same time, the Senate majority leader proposed four-year stabilization of prices at their present levels.

Taft's suggestions were made in a radio interview with the Gannett News Service as signs increased that Senate Republicans will sit on any tax reduction voted by the House until they have a clear idea of how much former President Truman's $78,600,000,000 spending budget can be cut.

Taft said that when Congress can see "a definite and certain reduction" in expenditures, it can go about the business of slicing taxes.

But he said this may have to be done in the form of a bill which would take effect later.

"I think there should be a very definite reduction, as much as 12 or 13 per cent at least, over all, for the fiscal year '55, that is beginning July 1, 1954," the Ohio senator said.

"Now I hope there may be a reduction before that time. The actual enactment of the reduction might be still earlier but the effective reduction may be in the first half of the calendar year '54, certainly the last half of the year '54."

The Ohioan covered a wide field of subjects. Besides calling for stabilization of prices at present levels, he said:

One—He thinks "better organization" among the Republicans will be reflected in GOP gains in next year's congressional election although "President Eisenhower himself may not be quite as popular as he was at the beginning of the year."

Two—if the Republicans "have any sense" they will replace Democratic postmasters with Republicans as soon as the jobs become vacant.

Three—He thinks Eisenhower's attitude toward congressional leaders "could not be more friendly or co-operative."

Four—He backs the President's order to the Seventh Fleet to quit what Eisenhower has taken thus far, "and I would hope that we could work out jointly a foreign policy that I could support wholeheartedly."

Five—He wants a commission to "lay down a Republican philosophy of federal aid" and will wait until it reports before offering any social welfare bills.

Backing up Eisenhower's State of the Union stand for expenditure cuts before tax reductions, Taft said "it seems to me we cannot afford to turn up with an unbalanced budget next year beginning July 1."

Reuther Swings At Benson

Washington, (AP) — CIO President Walter Reuther yesterday criticized Secretary of Agriculture Benson's stand on price supports as a policy aimed at helping the big farmer and the middleman at the expense of the little farmer.

"There are two kinds of farmers in America," Reuther said, "the farmers who farm the land and the farmers who farm the farmer."

We're worried about the fact that Secretary Benson represents the farmers who farm the farmer—that is, big business."

The CIO President's attack on Benson was made in listing what he called "danger signals on the horizon" of the Eisenhower administration.

Israel Ousts Three Commies

Tel Aviv, Israel (AP) — Israel is ousting three more Russians from their posts in this country on the heels of the Soviet Union's drastic rupture of diplomatic relations, a source close to the Foreign Office reported yesterday.

The informant said Vladimir Koblev, correspondent for Tass, official Soviet news agency; Archimandrite Polikarp, chief of the Russian Orthodox church mission, and I. Saitsev of the Russian Academy of Science, had all been told to pack their bags and leave the country.

Polikarp has been administrator of church property taken over in Palestine by the Soviet Union. Saitsev came here to negotiate the transfer to Soviet authorities of former property of the Russian Palestine Society.

At the same time it was disclosed that Israel has clamped down on the freedom movement of diplomats of Eastern Europe's Communist bloc, and taken further action by holding 18 Israelis on charges in connection with the bombing of the Soviet legation which resulted in Russia's severance of diplomatic relations last week.

Frontier guards at Lydda Air port and at crossing points on the Lebanese and Jordan borders have been instructed to allow no Eastern bloc diplomat to leave Israel without an exit visa, it was learned.

This measure matched the vigilance of Russia and other satellites who stress the need for exit visas for Western diplomats.

Fine Calls Press Meeting To Clarify Recent Orders Governing News Releases

Harrisburg, (AP) — Gov. John S. Fine last night called a news conference for this morning "to clarify" his recent order that all except "purely routine" news releases on state government activities must be cleared by his office.

"We will see what can be done to clarify this matter," he told a newsman.

The governor was reached at the executive mansion upon his return from a Midwest speaking trip. He said earlier he did not intend to curtail the flow of news by his order.

In a telegram to Richard A. Thornburgh, managing editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer and regional chairman of the Associated Press Managing Editors' committee on freedom and information, Fine said:

"My order has been misinterpreted. There is no censorship implied or real. Nor is there a news blackout intended or anticipated. My order will effect conformity of policy especially on legislative matters so that the General Assembly and the public will no longer be confused as to what measures have administration support."

Thornburgh, acting for the committee, had protested to Fine that his order "is censorship" and added "the public is entitled to know everything about official activities of its representatives in government on local state and national levels."

The governor, who sent his reply from Chicago where he had gone after making a Lincoln's day address in Milwaukee Thursday said he agreed with Thornburgh.

The telegram was the first explanation of the order since it was disclosed by Fine's office earlier this week.

But the original wording remained in effect and some state officials have apparently not been able to decide what news should be cleared and what news should be to be.

Dr. Russell E. Teague, state health secretary, refused to give an Associated Press reporter promised figures on school health examinations until he received a ruling from Fine's office.

"He it further resolved by the executive committee of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association that the President is urged to exercise all the powers and influence of his office toward elimination of the growing tendency to invoke a blackout on public information at all levels of government."

Battle Lines Are Drawn Over Constitution Change

Harrisburg, (AP) — Sides were being drawn yesterday in what may turn out to be a historic battle over whether Pennsylvania is to have a convention to revise the state's 79-year old constitution.

Forcing General Assembly members to take a stand on the issue is an administration-sponsored bill now being readied for final action in the House.

The measure is drawing top attention from the lawmakers in the current time-marking interlude prior to taking up the all-important issue of raising new revenue.

Both the Republican and Democratic parties are committed in their platforms to revising the constitution, often referred to as a "patchwork". The name has been applied because the document contains nearly 60 amendments.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson (McKen) Republican floor leader, said he expects the measure to be called up for final action when the Legislature reconvenes late today.

But even if it passes the House it can be expected to run up against stiffer obstacles in the Senate. There, a number of Senators are believed to be wary of, if not opposed to the bill.

The legal profession for years has pushed for revision of the state constitution. No organized opposition ever has been presented. Undercover opponents, however, lined up against the idea on grounds that it might pave the way for introduction of a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania.

Sen. Edward J. Kessler (R-Lancaster), for one, came out in open opposition on this ground recently. He is believed not to be alone. Kessler said he is opposed to a graduated income tax in principle.

The present constitution, styled in 1873, but put in effect in 1874, guarantees that all taxes in the state shall be on a uniform basis. This lets out the concept of a graduated income tax.

46 Aboard Plane Struck Down In Storm

New Orleans (AP) — Mangled bodies floated to the surface yesterday from a National Airlines DC6 that plunged into the Gulf of Mexico after being battered by 100-mile-an-hour winds in a thunderstorm.

The Coast Guard said the cutter Blackthorn, assisted by a helicopter, began picking up bodies as they floated to the surface from the wreckage some 60 miles southeast of Mobile, Ala.

By midafternoon, the Blackthorn recovered eight bodies.

Forty-one passengers and five crew members were aboard the plane when it crashed Saturday afternoon on a flight from Tampa, Fla., to New Orleans.

In two routine radio reports before the crash, Capt. E. A. Springer, a veteran 44-year-old National pilot from Coral Gables, Fla., gave no indication his plane was in trouble.

The Coast Guard said the wreckage was spotted about 90 miles north of the plane's last reported position, an indication the crash came unexpectedly after Springer's second radio message to the airport in New Orleans.

As the armada of search planes and ships scanned the choppy Gulf, conflicting reports on the possibility of survivors were radioed to Coast Guard headquarters in New Orleans.

Bad weather hampered radio communications and waves 20 feet high pounded search vessels. Many of the reports reaching Coast Guard headquarters were garbled by static.

The cutter Blackthorn reported that the heavy seas were breaking up the submerged plane.

As it ripped apart, the bodies rose to the surface. Suitcases popped to the surface and bobbed on the Gulf's white-capped surface.

Many passengers aboard the plane were en route to New Orleans for Tuesday's Mardi Gras celebration.

Bodies of the crash victims will be taken to Mobile, Ala., about 60 miles to the northwest, the Coast Guard said.

One National Airlines search plane reported spotting three life rafts from the plane yesterday, the Coast Guard said, with six survivors on one of the rafts.

But another National Airlines search plane reported sighting the same rafts and said there were no survivors.

The Coast Guard in New Orleans could not explain these conflicting statements.

The hope that some of the passengers had survived the crash was intensified early yesterday when radio operators along the Gulf Coast told the Coast Guard they picked up an SOS radio signal.

Dead Man Found Alive

New York (AP) — An 89-year-old man pronounced dead at his home yesterday, police said, was discovered alive two hours later at a funeral parlor and rushed to a hospital.

Nearly seven hours after a death certificate had been signed by the family doctor, the police report added, the hospital said the man was "still with us."

At 11 a.m. yesterday the doctor signed a death certificate saying the man, William Grossman, had died at his Brooklyn home of senility and arterial sclerosis.

He was taken to the Queens funeral parlor of Charles Morton, where embalmers discovered he was alive.

He was treated by an ambulance doctor there and then taken to Wyckoff Heights Hospital, arriving at 3:40 p.m., EST.

Doctors worked over him in the emergency room of the hospital for hours, administering blood plasma, oxygen, shock treatments and, later, whole blood transfusions.

Shortly before 6 p.m. they issued a report that Grossman had no discernible pulse or heart sound, but was still breathing.

Where Is It? Warm In Sunny Italy? Young American Tries Beautiful Island Of Ischia

(Following is the seventh of a series of travel articles written by Ruth Haller Ottaway, mother of James H. Ottaway, publisher of The Daily Record.)

By Ruth Haller Ottaway

Naples—Those who persist in travel rise at too early hours, brave packed trains, cold hotels and much else sometimes wonder why they are scuttling about as if pursued. But when safe at home with a fresh and rested mind, lovely pictures float vividly into vision, a castle at moonlight, the cypresses of Italy, a breath-taking masterpiece and the reward outweighs inconvenience.

Naples has opened her skies and rained torrents upon me on three journeys, and rough seas kept me from Capri.

Mrs. Ottaway

Cold has shivered my bones, and summer heat has burned into my marrow. Yet I return with joy.

The winter-cold of Italy is only the winter-cold of Florida in unheated buildings.

So take lightly another tale of the cold although it is true that if one is warm indoors,

The lovely coast-line of the Island of Ischia one sees upon leaving Capri, Sorrento and Naples by ship. Our American friend, a convert to Catholicism and in Rome studying to become a priest, had suffered so long from his unheated college that his one thought was like ours: "Where is it sunny and warm in 'sunny Italy'?" "Go to Ischia," he was advised.

Off to enjoy Ischia and June heat, he was no overcast. Once arrived, he was congealed. A young driver offered to show him Ischia and seeing him blue and cold, wrapped him up to the ears in a blanket.

Presently our novice became ravenously hungry. The canny driver knew just the place to eat. Said our friend, "Up we went on a winding road to the top of a high hill overlooking the sea. Never have I seen such beauty."

"We entered the house there and asked for dinner. The daughter, the driver's interest in this place, said, 'What would you like to eat?'"

"Just what the family eats." (Our friend is a real gourmet and a good cook himself). "I had waited some time when the young driver and the girl entered, she holding a beautiful, quivering rabbit. I petted the animal while memories of my childhood came to me of my whole royal family of rabbits. This bunny was just like my Queen Mab. What limpid, lovely eyes!"

"And I recalled King Canute, the Duchess and all of the others, so dear to me," he continued. "The two youngsters departed while I was lost in reverie."

"After an interminable wait, a steaming platter appeared. Alas and alack! I seemed to recognize poor Queen Mab. What to do? I was aching with hunger and had to eat. I tried. Finding it impossible to finish, I grabbed the boy, pushed him into the car, and made him race down the hill to a hotel."

"You know, it did something to my metabolism. I had a violent fever all night, and was warm, very warm! How I got back to Rome, I shall never know."

At the end of this harrowing tale of Ischia and the rabbit, the three of us burst into wild laughter.

Who was the third member of this trio? Not a silent partner, by any means. My husband, the Maestro. You could hear his roar of delight from here to where you live.

After all, getting warm is like

Urges More Inquiries Against Reds

Washington (AP)—Chairman Velde (R-III) of the House Un-American Activities Committee said yesterday that more congressional inquiry and stiffer laws are needed to combat Communism.

But the CIO's secretary-treasurer, James B. Carey, told him the lawmakers' investigations are mere "headline hunting" and added that with "more facts and less nonsense" the people and the regular intelligence agencies can meet the threat with present laws.

With occasional flashes of heat the Congressman and the union leader debated the best means to combat Communism on the NBC television program, "American Forum of the Air."

Velde said he expected future congressional investigations to "lead to the same places as in the past," to reveal "the mistakes Democratic administrations have made in the last 20 years" and to emphasize what a "horrible mistake" it was to try to get along with the Reds.

Carey retorted that the need is for "a good, sound, solid fight against Communism" and that organized labor is "not interested in smearing any administration—Republican or Democratic." He said the basis of such a fight is support for such agencies as the FBI and education of the people.

"You can't defeat Communism by a reactionary program and headlines," Carey said.

everything else. "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again!"

Inventor Of Mack Truck Dies At Home

New York (AP)—A native of Luzerne Township near Scranton, Pa., 94-year-old William C. Mack, died at his home at Huguenot Park, Staten Island, Friday.

He was one of three brothers who designed the original Mack truck.

With his late brother, John, and another brother, Joseph, Mack designed the forerunner of the famous truck about 50 years ago.

The three brothers had been carriage manufacturers. The brothers sold their business after World War I to International Motors, but retained a minority interest.

William Mack leaves a son and a daughter and his brother, Joseph of San Diego, Cal.

North Sea Tides Are Defeated

London (AP)—Britain, The Netherlands and Belgium defeated swelling North Sea tides yesterday.

In some places the margin was measured only in inches.

The victory heartened the thousands of servicemen, volunteer workers and engineers toiling to bolster the patched and soggy dikes.

Although seepages developed in several places, there were no big breaks.

Hope for final triumph on this tense week end rests with the weather.

The spring tides will continue climbing higher until late Monday night. In all, three countries' officials are convinced they can avoid a new disaster if the North Sea remains calm. It was almost like a mill pond this afternoon, and continuing calm weather was predicted for the next 24 hours.

Paradise Township Opens Debate On Six-Eight Grade Systems

Teacher Is Discussion Authority

Swiftwater—Second in a series of meetings on "Whether Paradise Township should have a six or eight-grade school" has been held here.

With school board president Anthony Bolyn in charge, the discussion was turned over to Miss Audrey Hamblin, a teacher in the school, who spoke on behalf of the faculty.

Miss Hamblin listed several disadvantages to sending seventh and eighth grade pupils to another school.

Basing her observations on private talks with the pupils themselves, Miss Hamblin said they find their school day under this arrangement "tiring."

Fatigue, she said, is brought about by the "longer day"—pupils must start earlier and get home later.

Increased amounts of extra-curricular activity, largely directed by adults, leaves the pupil with little time for his own individual interests, she continued, citing an article, "No Life of Their Own" from a recent issue of the magazine "Woman's Day."

Pupil needs, she said, are three-fold. First, they need to feel that they are part of a group; second, that they are achieving something and third, that teachers are interested in them as individuals.

Continuing their education with teachers and groups with which they are already acquainted offers better advantages, Miss Hamblin said.

In larger schools, the teachers declared, pupils (coming from small schools) seem to feel they are just "a cog in a wheel—a drop in the bucket."

In discussing new trends in education, the speaker pointed specifically to the "continuing teacher" system.

Under this arrangement a teacher "moves" with her class for a complete three-year period. Primary advantage to such a system would be to make an earlier "start" possible when school convenes in the fall since the teacher already possesses a working knowledge of the individual child's background.

The series of meetings had been arranged by school directors in an effort to let residents of the community take a hand in deciding whether to keep the present six-grade system at Paradise or convert to an eight-grade system.

A third, and final, discussion will be held early in March. Monroe County Superintendent of Schools John C. Litts will be principal speaker for that meeting.

Milk Pricing Proposal Is Offered

Syracuse, N.Y. (AP)—Three milk pricing proposals by Eastern Milk Producers Co-operative Association would increase the income of dairy farmers by about $12,000,000 a spokesman said.

Harry M. Smith of Bellefonte, Pa., said last night price changes suggested in the proposals would mean an average increase of about $240 a year for the nearly 50,000 dairy farmers in the milkshed.

Smith, who is chairman of the co-operative service committee, arrived to attend a federal-state hearing today on co-operative service payments.

He added in a written statement that the increase would be of great help to dairy farmers who "face an uncertain future" as their purchasing power diminishes in the face of rising production costs of production.

He said dairy farmers are producing milk at a loss.

Eastern's spokesman said the proposals have been sent to the secretary of agriculture in the form of petitions.

Smith said the $12,000,000 could be gained by:

One—Establishing a minimum floor price of $5.12 for 100 pounds of Class 1-A milk, or milk sold in the New York market for fluid consumption during April, May and June.

Two—Raising the price level of Class 1-C milk, or milk sold in non-federal regulated markets for fluid consumption to the level of the Class 1-A price.

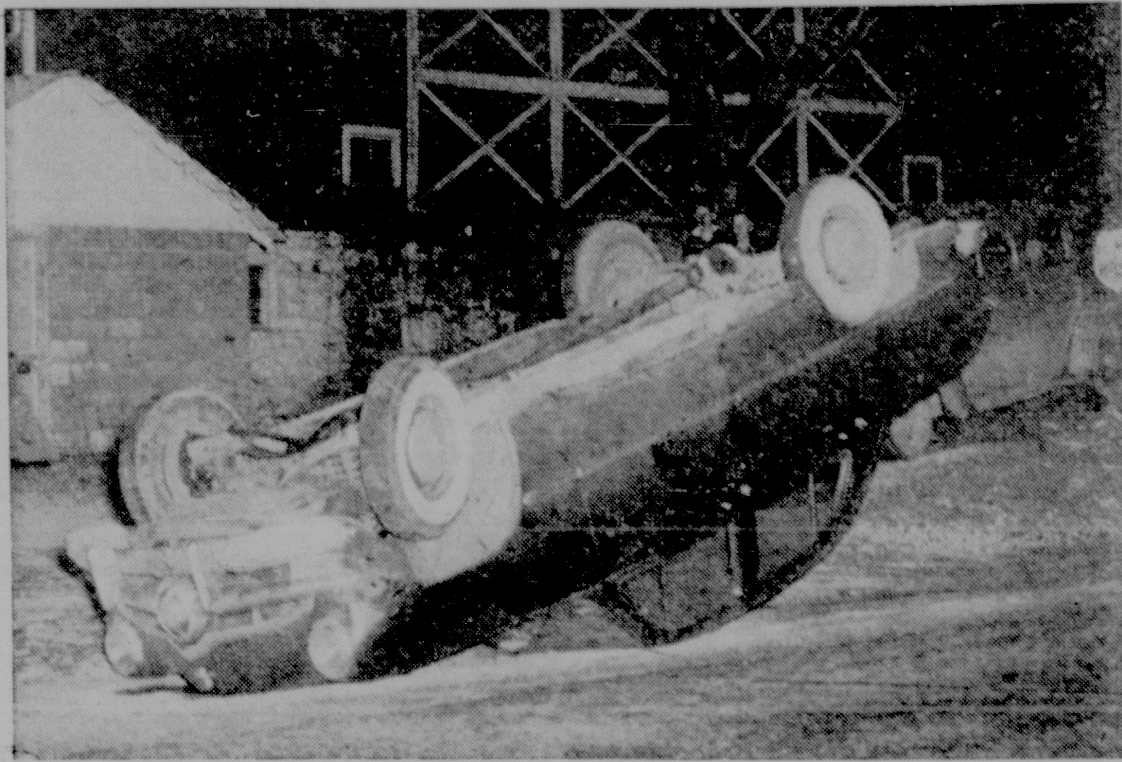

Three—Raising the price level of Class 3 milk, or milk used for manufacturing dairy products, to the Midwest "18 condensery" level.

The first proposal alone would mean an increase of $4,000,000, Smith said.

Central Accounting Is Urged In Chesterman's Economy Recommendations

Harrisburg, (AP)—Creation of a central accounting system was termed yesterday by the Chesterman Committee as one of its major economy recommendations for the commonwealth.

The committee, winding up its year-long study of the state government, called for "a sound, modern system of accounting" for state funds.

"The governor, the Legislature and the people are deprived of adequate means by which to manage, to control, and to judge the cost of effectiveness of the conduct of the state's affairs," the committee report said.

The report said no dollars and cents estimate of the possible savings under the new system was available but it forecast "vast economies in operating costs."

"It is virtually impossible to obtain an accurate picture of the financial condition of the commonwealth" under the present accounting system, the report said.

The committee, headed by Francis J. Chesterman, Philadelphia, already has found ways of savings up to 78 million dollars a biennium on a long-range basis.

Named by Gov. John S. Fine to explore economy and efficiency in its government, the group has only its reports on the state Banking, Commerce, Labor and Industry and Industry and State departments to complete.

The committee proposed establishing an accountant general department to have authority over all accounting matters with the exception of post-auditing and audit reports.

Inadequate records in the governor's budget office were blamed for "arguments reported in the public press about the existence of a so-called 'surplus' or 'deficit'" at the end of each biennium and administration.

Mist Hampers Air Search

Buffalo, N. Y. (AP)—A low mist over Western New York and Pennsylvania yesterday forced temporary abandonment of the air search for four Niagara University students missing since Friday in a rented airplane.

Hundreds of policemen, firemen, fliers and volunteers moved out on the ground, slogging through snow in rugged terrain with dwindling hope of finding the college men alive. Snow mixed with rain fell steadily in the search area.

A railroad engineer in Emporium, Pa., reported he saw a strange light last night in wooded, desolate terrain off the railroad right-of-way near Liberty Curve, outside Emporium.

The engineer, H. W. Welch, said the light appeared to burn with a white flame and he discounted the possibility that it might have been a flare of fire.

Sheriff George Lewis of Cameron County, Pa., also reported strange lights behind the mountains, but no planes could be sent over the area because of the weather.

The youths, piloted by James G. Sweeney, a 19-year-old freshman from Elmhurst, N. Y., took off from an airport near here Friday afternoon. They planned to fly over the campus of St. Bonaventure University in Olean to drop leaflets.

No leaflets were dropped and the single-engine plane failed to return.

Sweeney's passengers were Richard M. Hens, 21, of Hamburg; Donald L. Nickel, 21, of Rochester, and William J. Murphy Jr., 21 of Lockport, N. Y., all seniors.

Eight Inch Snowfall Hits County

Rain, snow, sleet and slush covered the county yesterday.

The snow fell during the night. By morning there was a blanket over most of the county.

Highway department workers were on the job at 7 a.m. State police in the county said motorists were having hard going. Cinder crews worked on the bad hills. Other men operated seven graders.

A total of 30 trucks and 69 men were on the road. The roads were scraped and cindered until 8 p.m.

R. H. Eilenberger, assistant superintendent, estimated eight inches of snow fell in the mountain areas of the county. The fall was less in the lowlands, he said.

Flurries continued throughout the day in the high areas. In other sections—around the Stroudsburgs and West End—there was freezing rain.

Mount Pocono reported a four-inch fall of wet snow followed by rain. Roads were buried in slush. Temperature dropped to 31 degrees and snow fell again after dark.

Brodheadsville State police said roads in that area were open last night. A freeze would make the highways dangerous, they added.

Millford police reported intermittent snow and rain all day, with temperature rising to 40 degrees early last night.

Forecast for today was cloudy and somewhat colder.

Easter Candy Sale Planned

Tobyhanna—Plans for sale of Easter candy will be discussed tonight at a meeting of Coolbaugh Township Parent Teachers Association in the high school.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. All parents and teachers are invited to attend.

Money from the sale will be used to buy needed school equipment.

Chaves Is Re-Elected

Asuncion, Paraguay (AP)—Federico Chaves, 72, was reelected president of Paraguay yesterday, without opposition. He was the candidate of the Colorado party, the only legal party in this country.

Chaves has been President since Dr. Felipe Molas Lopez, a dentist, was forced out of office on Sept. 11, 1949. His new term is five years.

Roberts Is Faced With Recordings

Wilkes-Barre, (AP)—Tape recording of two telephone calls alleged to have been made by Jonah Z. Roberts have been introduced into the 46-year-old machinist's murder trial.

Roberts is accused of killing his wife, Mary, 32, and placing the blame on two hitchhikers who never have been located.

Luzerne County Judge J. Harold Flannery admitted the recordings as evidence Saturday over the objections of defense attorneys.

The state contends that one of the recordings obtained by tapping a telephone in the defendant's hospital room here, was made by Robert's to Frances Allen, 24-year-old blonde, whom Roberts is alleged to have dated.

The male and female voices on the first recording and the male voice on the second recording were identified as those of Roberts and Miss Allen by state policeman Victor Nelson. The female voice on the second recording was not identified.

The state contends that Roberts shot his wife on a lonely rural road last June 10, and then shot himself in the shoulder with the same weapon.

Roberts maintains that his wife was killed, and he was shot, by two hitchhikers whom they had picked up while pleasure riding.

A good bit of the tape recordings were garbled and unintelligible. Another tape recording was played by Nelson in which a man he named as Roberts described to police the circumstances surrounding the shooting.

The prosecution estimated that it may require eight hours to play all the tape recordings of statements they wish to enter into the record.

Commissioners In Jamestown

Foul weather yesterday forced four Monroe County men to take the train to Jamestown, N.Y., to study voting machines. The trip had been planned by car.

Commissioners Amzi F. Altamose, W. Adolph Rake, Chief Clerk Harry Taylor and court-house janitor Harry Walton left on the 12:20 p.m. train. The "school" lasts four or five days.

It is a service offered by the Automatic Voting Machine Co., makers of the machines used in Monroe. The Monroe men will learn how to service and maintain the machines.

Elementary School Now Planned At Mt. Bethel To Meet Large Attendance

Mount Bethel—Crowded conditions in neighborhood schools have caused Upper Mount Bethel township school directors to plan an elementary school building of their own.

Under present arrangements, township grade school children are farmed out to elementary schools in Portland and Bangor.

Township population, however, is on the increase. Census estimates completed in 1952 indicate there will be about 318 children in grade school here next year.

Plans for the new building, still in the discussion stage, were revealed yesterday by E. W. Sayer, a member of the board.

Taking into consideration the overcrowding in Portland and Bangor schools, the board member said, it is believed the erection of a new building is the best solution to the problem.

At present, the township has no schools of its own. An investigation is now underway to determine the advisability of erecting a joint school with other nearby districts.

School directors from Lower Mount Bethel Township, Portland and Bangor have been invited to attend a meeting of the local board on Feb. 23 when the project will be discussed.

How big the new building will be and where it may be located must be determined by the number of districts represented in the project. Lower Mount Bethel, Portland and East Bangor are all considered possible members, Sayer said.

Tentative plans call for a building with enough rooms for grades one through six inclusive. High school students from Upper Mount Bethel are sent to East Bangor and East Stroudsburg schools, at the present time.

Short Circuit Breaks Power

"Jumping wires" evidently were the cause of a short circuit which killed power in the Snodysville-Sciota area at 11 a.m. yesterday.

Ted Henning of Metropolitan Edison Co. said a line fuse had been blown. When snow falls off the lines, the wires sometimes vibrate up and down. When the uppermost wire vibrates opposite to the lower wire, the two sometimes touch and burn out a fuse.

Residents were without power for about an hour.

Quarantine Applied To Polio Home

An observation quarantine on the home of the late William J. Greiner, Stroudsburg, a polio victim, reaches the half-way mark this morning with no ill effects reported by other family members.

Mr. Greiner died of bulbar polio at St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem, last Tuesday. His residence, 63 N. Tenth St., was quarantined at 5 p.m. that day by Samuel Van Gordon, Stroudsburg health officer.

Dr. R. Frederick Jones, county medical director, said State law requires a 14-day quarantine in known cases of polio. By that reckoning the quarantine will be lifted at 5 p.m. Feb. 23.

Mrs. Greiner, her mother, and two children, William J. 3, and Claudia, six months, are now at the residence.

box holders have been returned. School children in the area have donated $81.62.

LITTLE TALKS WITH BIG THOUGHTS

One clear, crisp evening, I took a group of children out into the country, to see the stars. As we came to a meadow where the children saw the brilliant heavens, two of the littlest ones grabbed me crying. "Please, don't let those lights fall on us. How do they stay up there? What holds them?"

I realized then, living as they did in the narrow chasms between tall buildings, these children had never seen stars.

At first, I did not know how to answer. Then, I simply said, "God put them there. Keeps them there. Just as he made our world and keeps it here. He won't let them drop on you."

Just then a shooting star raced across the sky and stopped.

A wee voice alongside of me said, "Gee, ain't God wonderful."

Gov. Fine's Censorship

Governor Fine's order setting himself up as censor of all news from departments and agencies under his jurisdiction is without parallel or justification. It is a bald attempt to interfere with freedom of information—the people's right to know.

The Governor should rescind this obviously ill-considered ruling without delay.

The "little iron curtain" was drawn last week in "the interest of securing greatly needed conformity to administrative policies in newspaper releases."

That statement sounds strangely like others we've heard over the years. One of most recent occurrence came from one Mr. Peron of Argentina and when he didn't get his way he killed off every newspaper standing in the way of his order.

What Mr. Fine's policy is, is a matter left largely to the imagination of the press and the public. Only routine matters are to be given public light without first passing the screening process.

All other information will apparently be spoon fed, but only after it has been palatable for public consumption.

The order excepts "purely routine matters", without spelling out what comes under routine. Under a broad interpretation of the directive, it is entirely possible that nothing would be classified as routine.

The inherent evil in such a move is not debatable. With complete control of censorship centered in the Governor's office, the scope of the evils possible is immeasurable.

We are doubtful Governor Fine has any intention of attempting suppression of news unfavorable to his regime. In the first place he could not do it very long before his position would be exposed.

But it is certain that his enemies close to his office, and his political foes all over the State will make capital of his move to gag the press.

They will be quick to point out that such a curtain of secrecy drawn against the free flow of information could hide almost anything bad, wasteful, inefficient or even crooked that might happen in a state government department or agency.

The whole principle of freedom of information is involved in the Governor's action. He is saying in effect, that nothing that goes on in government agencies under his jurisdiction shall be made available to the newspapers until it is cleared through him.

We see no course open to the Governor except to rescind the order, which is censorship no matter how you look at it.

Robert S. Allen Reports

New Forceful Moves Will Be Made By U. S. Against Reds

Washington, Feb. 16—The U.S. will shortly make a new forceful move regarding the stalemate war in Korea. That decision has been made by President Eisenhower. Scene of the Administration's second measure in its policy of taking the initiative against the Communists will be the UN General Assembly, which meets in New York next Tuesday.

The latest plan will consist of a twofold attack, as follows:

Demand for the immediate enlargement and stricter enforcement of the economic sanctions voted by the UN against the Chinese Reds and North Koreans in May 1951.

Vigorous action to halt the sale and shipment of war supplies to the enemy by neutral countries that are not UN members. A graphic instance of this is Ceylon, which has sold large quantities of rubber and other strategic materials to Red China.

The U.S. will not ask the UN to blockade the coast of China.

Nothing will be done on that drastic proposal at this time. Definite assurances concerning that have been given allied powers. But the U.S. will take the offensive on the economic front and will determinedly press for militant measures against the Reds.

This drive will be spearheaded by former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, new U.S. Ambassador to the UN.

In the past several weeks, he has had four unannounced conferences with the President at which detailed plans for this momentous effort were carefully worked out.

Counter Blow — There is another purpose behind this strategy.

It is also aimed as a counter to another phony peace move by the Russians.

It is definitely known they plan to stage a demonstrative revival of their proposal for a five-power peace conference.

This time Poland will do the fronting for the Kremlin. The Reds can't set the stage for the satellite to play this role by having Poland quietly put a proposal for a peace conference on the UN agenda last year.

The American case against neutrals which are supplying Red China with war materials will be powerfully documented.

One example of the scathing evidence Ambassador Lodge will present is a report compiled by the Mutual Security Administration on Ceylon's sale of rubber to the Communists. The U.S. offered to buy all of Ceylon's rubber at a reasonable price, but instead the one-time British possession sold the vital commodity to the Reds at a much higher figure.

Regarding this grave problem the MSA report in Ambassador Lodge's hands declares:

"Ceylon is not a member of the United Nations, having been blackballed by the Soviet Union. The UN General Assembly on May 18, 1951, adopted an embargo resolution directed against the Chinese Communist aggressors. The other major rubber-producing countries embargoed rubber under the resolution. But Ceylon, despite the fact that it has an anti-Communist government, has not seen fit to observe the terms of the UN appeal."

"Ceylon has concluded a broad five-year agreement with Communist China. Under this agreement, Communist China promised to deliver 270,000 tons of rice per year. Ceylon has promised to make available 50,000 tons of rubber per year. Neither the representations of the U.S. nor the warnings of certain Ceylonese themselves have prevented the conclusion of this agreement."

"The solution of Ceylon's new relationship with Communist China is a matter of critical concern to the U.S. Controls over shipping and over the fueling of vessels calling at free world ports may provide one salutary course of action . . . But the seriousness of the situation demands action."

Tax Battle—House Republican leaders cannot stop Representative Daniel Reed's bill to cut income taxes.

Authority for that is none other than Speaker Joe Martin.

He personally gave this inside word to President Eisenhower.

In effect, Martin admitted that Reed's aggressive drive to highball his tax-slashing measure through the House has gone beyond control of GOP leaders.

"We can't stop him," said Martin. "What he's doing is to put the issue on a personal basis. He's passing out the word all over the House that a vote against his proposal will be considered a vote against him. He is chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and there aren't many members who want to antagonize him. As a result, he's got a majority lined up for his bill right now. His Committee will approve it overwhelmingly and the same thing will happen in the House."

Up to the end of 1952, the Military Air Transport Service had flown 17,000 passengers and 7,400 tons of cargo and mail to and from the new U. S. Air Force base at Thule, Greenland.

University of Chicago's Prof. Shils Is Unrealistic On Foreign Scientist Visas

A Professor Speaks
Professor Edward A. Shils of the University of Chicago has an explanation for the unwillingness of the State Department to give visas to some foreign scientists to come to this country because they have had reputations in their own countries. He said, according to "The Saturday Evening Post":

"The excessive preoccupation with the dangers of revolutionary subversion, arising from a compound of xenophobia, distrust of the educated and of intellectual activity, and the animosity of the professional politician against the usually better educated civil servants—all aggravated by the system of the separation and executive branches of our Federal Government—brings us to our present position."

Now that is an amazing sentence which needs commentary almost word for word. Take the clause "excessive preoccupation with the dangers of revolutionary subversion"—what can that mean? If revolutionary subversion exists, how can a government be excessively preoccupied with it, unless that government cares nothing for its people, its culture and civilization?

Is it not a normal function of government to protect its country? Is not revolution as perilous as war?

Now we come to xenophobia. This is a fancy word for dislike of the stranger. How can that be said when the fact is that this country, even today, has one of the most liberal immigration policies of any country on earth, admitting persons from all continents, in spite of restrictions, more freely than most other countries? Compare, for instance, our immigration laws with those of Soviet Russia!

So, we come to a "distrust of the educated and of intellectual activity." What are the facts? This country supports more research laboratories, more Ph. D.'s per capita than most countries.

It is unrealistic to state that Americans distrust the educated; on the contrary, it is a habit in this country to assume that if a man achieves high status in one intellectual discipline, he knows everything. For instance, while Professor Albert Einstein is a great physicist and an authority on Mozart, it is doubtful that he can read and understand a law passed by Congress on the subject of immigration. Similarly, while James B. Conant of Harvard is an outstanding chemist, does that make him a diplomat? Perhaps he is, but the evidence on the subject is still to be established.

The American people have an extraordinary regard for the man of learning. Unfortunately, some men of learning do not take that respect with the humility of spirit and sense of deep responsibility which such faith in them should evoke. They too often believe the good things that are said about them.

Now comes the phrase, "the animosity of the professional politician against the usually better educated civil servants—a statement which is a strange departure from factual data and therefore lacking in intellectual discipline. Most of the members of Congress are university graduates and lawyers. If they are not adequately educated, it must be the fault of the universities which they attended. Those universities are, in the main, the same ones from which come the civil servants and other schooled men and women. The most representative body of our professional politicians is in Congress, the Cabinet, and in the courts.

I choose the Senate of the 82nd Congress as an example: The Senate consists of 96 members; 83 reported attendance at and graduation from one or more universities, some with more than one degree. Of those who do not report their university records, a few are lawyers and therefore are likely to have attended colleges. This record will show favorably with most categories of civil servants.

While I do not believe that college attendance should be a qualification for election to Congress, it does prove that Professor Shils has not taken the trouble to get at the facts, which he could have done by the same method as I did, namely, count noses in the "Congressional Directory." Maybe the professor never heard of this reference book.

The learned professor also objects to the separation of powers, provided by our Constitution, to safeguard our people from tyranny. Maybe, he prefers tyranny; if not, why object to this fundamental doctrine of American political life? What would Professor Shils substitute for it?

I looked in several useful reference books to discover who Professor Shils is. There was no information.

The Broadway Lights

The First-Nights: "The Emperor's Clothes" was shrugged off by five of the aisle-Emperors as a threadbare drama. Two applauded it as pure velvet. Nero Chapman (of the Daily News) offered the minority verdict: "The most exciting stage piece I have seen this far this season!"

It was V for Victor Moore in a reprise of "On Borrowed Time," a personal triumph. The fantasy retains its whimsical-whimsical charm and Mr. Moore's patented drollery made it a glorious reunion. The Mirror's Robert Coleman rejoiced: "Sheer enchantment!" . . . A musical named "Hazel Flagg," stars Bob Alton's jet-propelled dance magic and a twin-engine leading lady, Helen (Wotta) Gallagher. The notices included reservations about the Ben Hecht adaptation of James Street's story, which was more successful as the movie, "Nothing Sacred," a long ago Carole Lombard delight, albeit there were no complaints about John Howard, Miss Gallagher, Jack Whiting's soft-shoeing, Thomas Mitchell and a newcomer hip-flipper named Sherree North. The Times' Mr. Atkinson sized up: "A fast and brassy show, which is only half-true . . . Ty Power, Judith Anderson and Raymond Massey arrived in a reading of 'John Brown's Body,' after a profitable whistle-stop tour. The premiere clashed with our deadline."

Between Acts: Waiting for the asbestos to go up on "Hazel Flagg," we told Geo. Solotarev, our seat neighbor, that the theater was ideal for a musical show, spacious and attractive. . . . Leave us poor actors to do your work night after night while you bask in the sun' . . . To which Miller punched: 'Where were you when the pages were bare?'

The Cinemagicians: "Moulin Rouge," a superb celluloid portrait of Toulouse-Lautrec, has Jose Ferrer expertly greenspanting the highlights and shadows of a physically grotesque genius, whose legacy is artistic beauty. The critics embraced it with 4 stars . . . "Marshall of Cedar Rock" induces slumber by counting horses . . . "Curtain Up" is a generally jolly Britisher. Pippin here and poop-poop there. . . . "Tonight We Sing" is full of enchanting sounds. Thanks to the chanting of Ezio Pinza and Roberta Peters . . . "Meet Me at the Fair" offers a passable musical—set in the hoopskirt era. The script occasionally falls on its ruffles . . . "Peter Pan" has Disney's animated darlings to guarantee the charm of Sir Barrie's stardust-and-moonbeams fable . . . "Undersea Raider" makes you see-sick.

Stairway to the Stars Have a wine: Paul Kelly, a bigtimer, whose acting on Broadway and Hollywood has won sugary notices, is playing in minor Westerns . . . Menasha ("5th Season") Skulnik's quotable quote: "No good joke is ever dead, it lives forever in the laughter of every new audience!"

Add odd names: Movie critic Sraphina Alaimo . . . Funny sitcheayshun over at Kay Starr's house: Her ex-husband handles her bookings, selects her ditties, etc. Her new groom (a famous arranger) does nothing for her recordings—usually clicks . . . "Father" Simmons, longtime casting director for the Shuberts (in his 80s), is at the Lynwood Nursing Home here . . . Advance word says "Wonderful Town" includes a darling named Edith Adams, reported to be ecstatic. Her song hit is: "My Darlin' Eileen" . . .

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES J. ENGEL, left, are shown with their attendants, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon L. White, after their marriage at St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg. (Daily Record Photo)

Engel-Johns Wedding At St. John's

St. John's Lutheran Church, in Stroudsburg, was the scene of the wedding of Florence B. Johns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Bennett, 7719 Burholme Ave., Philadelphia, to Charles J. Engel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Engel of Stroudsburg RD2.

Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlens performed the ceremony at 4 p.m. February 14, in front of the altar which was decorated with mixed flowers. Richard Lindroth, a member of the Guild of Organists, gave an organ recital before and during the service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a beige street length dress trimmed with lace, a beige veiled hat, beige satin shoes and carried a colonial bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Ada White, of 1933 West Main St., Stroudsburg, was the matron of honor. She wore a navy blue and white striped street-length dress with navy hat trimmed with white flowers, and navy shoes. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

Vernon L. White of West Main St., was the best man while Rudy Auer of Tanite Road and Charles Widmer, Scott St., served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore a dress of lilac taffeta with a corsage of yellow roses; and the bridegroom's mother a navy blue dress trimmed with pink lace, navy blue hat and pink rose corsage.

A reception for 75 close friends and relatives was held at the Bartonsville Hotel. A buffet supper was served and music for dancing was furnished by the Pocono Playboys. Valentine decorations marked the bride's table whose centerpiece was of mixed flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Engel are now on a wedding trip to New York City. For traveling, the bride wore a light blue faille tailored dress with a light blue felt hat, black coat trimmed with white fur, black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

On their return they will make their home at Stroudsburg RD2, in care of White's.

Evelyn Wells Is Married To Cal. Man

Sciota — Evelyn B. Wells, of Sciota, and Harold Speery, of Santa Ana, Cal., were married at the Cherry Valley Methodist Church, on Saturday, February 7 at 5 p.m. by Rev. C. Clyde Levergood.

Organ music was provided by Miss Betty Levergood, daughter of the pastor. Although they had no attendants, the guests included the bride's nephew, Henry Wells, who came home from Lyscoming College for the wedding.

After the ceremony, Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Levergood entertained them at dinner at the parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Speery entrained at East Stroudsburg for Santa Ana where they will make their home.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Well, St. Valentine was looking after his own, and the sun shone bright on our St. Valentine's brides.

The brilliant sunshine on the gleaming white Sand Hill Methodist Church, standing there framed in the landscape of the upper Valley, gave it an unreal quality, like an old-fashioned woodcut of a country church.

Except for the cars, which crowded the lane and filled the cemetery paths, the crowd inside was so dense you could scarcely see the dark wood paneling which gives that church such a distinctive look.

The setting sun fell softly through the stained glass windows at the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church late in the day to cast colored shadows on bridal procession and congregation. Only dark shadow, though, was the regret that young Jerry O'Neill missed out in ushering at the wedding he'd had such fun getting ready to do.

Guests who remembered Ted Arbogast as a child had fun trying to pick him out of the very efficient ushers who were there. And the people had a preview of new spring millinery, too, as the guests paraded up Main Street from the church to the reception at the Penn-Stroud.

Such a happy reception it was, too, with more than one guest observing that it was well that the bride was such a pretty girl, or she'd find herself eclipsed by both the mothers in the wedding party.

Well, everything worked out just right, but what if Sunday's weather had arrived Saturday? Listen to Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVFO, 10:15 a.m.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS FRANK BONSER in the doorway of the Sand Hill Methodist Church where they were married on Saturday afternoon. (Daily Record Photo)

Miss Joyce C. Predmore Is Bride Of Thomas F. Bonser

Miss Joyce Carolyn Predmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Predmore of Bushkill and Thomas Frank Bonser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bonser, of East Stroudsburg, were married at 2 o'clock on Valentine's Day in the Sand Hill Methodist Church, near Bushkill.

The church was filled to capacity with many guests standing for the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Charles Whitaker. Candles and a bouquet of white gladiolus, snapdragons and laurel decorated the altar and the ends of the pews were tied with white satin bows and gladioli.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and net over satin, long sleeves ending in points at the wrist and a full hoop skirt. Her fingertip veil fell from a band with rosettes of orange blossoms and she carried white roses on a white prayer book.

Mrs. Charles T. LaBar, an aunt of the bride, was her matron of honor. She wore a blue floor length gown and carried an arm bouquet of mixed pink and blue flowers. She wore a pink hat.

The bridesmaids, both cousins of the bride, were Miss Patricia Lits and Mrs. Robert Brodhead, were in blue and pink, respectively, and carried colonial bouquets of pink flowers, with pink and blue hands with flower rosettes on their hair.

The best man was Thomas Bonser, an uncle of the bride, and the ushers were Harry Nase Jr., and Robert Brodhead.

Ralph Turn was soloist, singing "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," and Mrs. Charles Whitaker played the wedding music.

Following the ceremony a reception for about 250 guests was held at Regina Hotel. A ten-tier cake, topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, had been made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. LaBar.

The bride's mother wore a light purple dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Among the guests was the bride's great grandmother, Mrs. Ida Transue.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Bonser left for a wedding trip through the South. For traveling the bride wore a grey two-piece dress with black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

On their return they will make their home at 111 Ridgeway St.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bonser are graduates of East Stroudsburg High School. The bride is employed at Wyckoff's Department store and Mr. Bonser at Hughes Printing Co.

Baby Shower For Mrs. Gougher

A baby shower was held in honor of Mrs. Wilbur Gougher at the home of Mrs. Ellis Smith, Mrs. Cornell Andrews had made favors of cardboard alphabet blocks with storks perching on each one, and the dining room was decorated with crepe paper and other storks.

Games and refreshments were enjoyed by Mrs. Walter Gougher, Mrs. Jacob Hawk, Mrs. Herbert Kunkle, Mrs. Calvin L. Berger, Mrs. Raymond Berger, Mrs. Jacob Smith, Mrs. Alfred Correll, Mrs. Delbert Gougher, Mrs. Earl Lobach, Mrs. Quinton Smith, Mrs. Mildred Weiss, Miss Ellen Buskirk, Mrs. Edith Buskirk, Miss Pauline Smith, Mrs. Ellis Smith, Mrs. Constance Andrews, Miss Jean Weiss, Nancy Smith, Dora Berger, Connie Buskirk.

Long before I became associated with Wyckoff's, I heard the story of the Silver Dollar . . . one of those extra-special bonuses that come as a surprise and make working here exciting and pleasant.

The Silver Dollar is nothing one can deliberately set out to acquire. It isn't earned by selling a certain number of shirts, or Frigidaires, or by acquiring a specific number of credits over a given period. It is just a prized gesture of approval, given spontaneously by the same kindly employer who remembers our birthdays each year, and who is as interested in our troubles as he is in the occasional honors that come our way. But the value of the coin, far exceeds that placed upon it by the United States Treasury. There is, after all, no dollar value that can be placed upon the pride any serious-minded worker feels when told he has done a good job. And there is no way of measuring one's gratitude and respect for an employer who is aware of his people as individuals, and appreciative of their efforts.

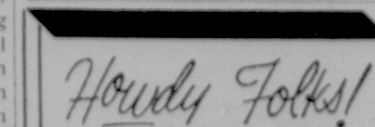

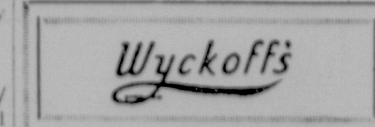

A friend, employed at Wyckoff's some years ago, was the first to mention the Silver Dollar to me. It was one of the proudest moments she ever knew, when, at the close of a particularly busy day, Mr. Wyckoff walked by, and casually slipped the prized award into the pocket of her smock. Repeating the story, I learned that the Silver Dollar can be given for almost any accomplishment . . . particular courtesy to a customer, outstanding salesmanship, or any sincere effort to keep the store's policy of friendly, efficient service at its peak. "Once you've won one of those dollars," a co-worker warned, "you'll always remember it and keep hoping that lightning will strike again."

Of late, I hadn't heard the Silver Dollar mentioned. I was sorry about that, because I knew how respected the custom had become. For instance, several days ago one of our salesmen drew a handful of change from his pocket, and I noticed a big, full moon of silver shining in his palm. "Oh . . . a silver dollar," I exclaimed. "Have you had it long?"

"Years and years," he said, turning it over proudly before putting it away. "I always carry it."

I was wondering if all of our new people had heard of the Silver Dollar and realized its significance.

Then, on Saturday afternoon, two more Silver Dollars were presented. To the recipients it was a big moment . . . a moment of challenge. "You've done a good job," the reward implied. But the question in one's mind was, "How can I do a better one?" THAT is the Silver Dollar question our store has been striving to answer for nearly 78 years. And being sincere in our effort to find the answers, Wyckoff's history is one of which we are justly proud.

There's an old saying that a picture is worth a thousand words. This is especially true where your children are concerned.

Your child's photograph can speak better than any bouquet of flowery words.

From a parent's viewpoint, the path your child follows from infancy to adulthood is all too short. Why not record each cherished step of the way. Years from now when you look back over the past you'll have vivid reminders of today's happy experiences.

Think back at the enjoyment when you found a picture tucked inside a letter from a friend.

Why not send one of our lifelike portraits of your child to out-of-town friends and relatives. They will appreciate your thoughtfulness.

Contractor Is Ready For Any Job

Pardee Place, local contracting engineer of East Stroudsburg, urges anyone planning for any excavation or grading work, whether for home, business property or roads, to have this work done early.

Mr. Place, an experienced operator with a capable group of employees, said the annual Spring rush and scarcity of equipment for duplicate jobs, make it necessary for such work to be booked early.

He said his present labor forces and his wide range of equipment make it possible for him to say "the job is too large or too small" for prompt action from his firm.

Mr. Place is equipped to do any shovel or crane work. Bulldozers are available for light and heavy work.

His equipment includes trenching machines for digging certain types of foundations and for laying all types of pipe lines.

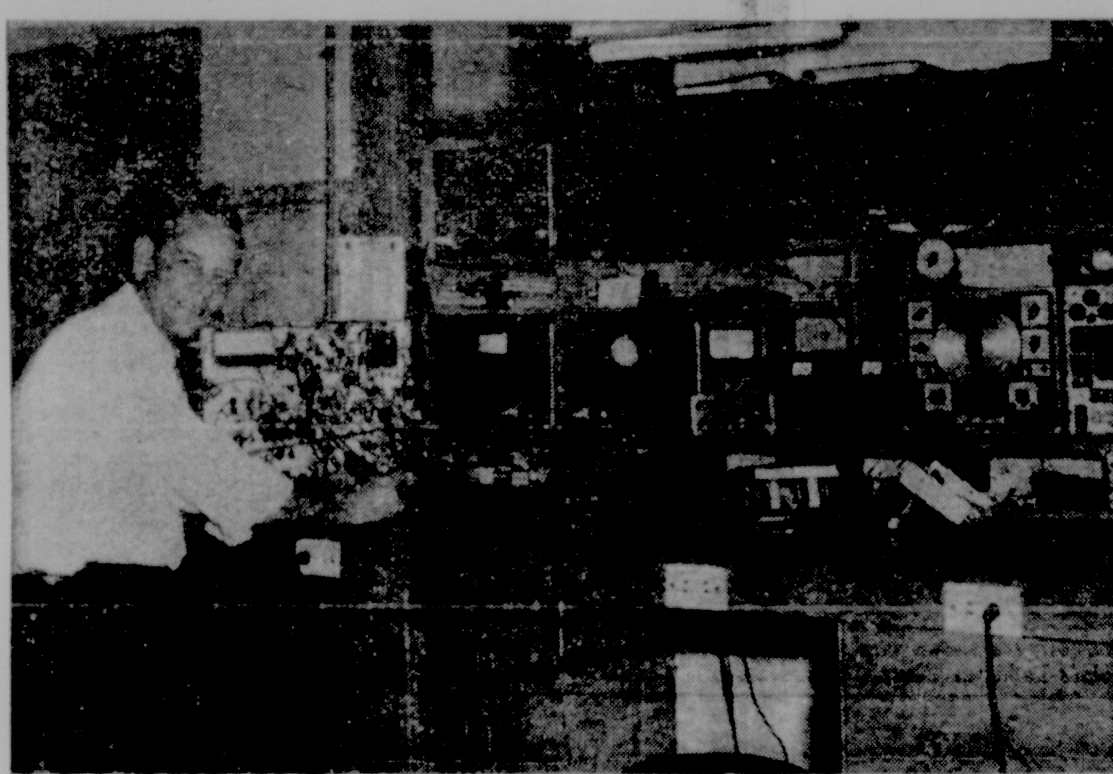

Mr. Place is also equipped with all sizes of trucks for hauling anything, whether it be top soil, shale, fill or general material.

Mr. Place has been operating in this region for many years. During that time he has concentrated on acquiring the latest and most varied equipment and to creating a sound operating force.

Pardee Place will receive calls for all types of work at... Phone 1735. He is prepared to give prompt estimates and schedule any type of work...

Ice Cube Maker Has Been Added To New Frigidaire

The engineering genius which Frigidaire made synonymous with its name has come through again with another exciting product that offers both money-saving and money-making features.

This new engineering baby, created by General Motors, is the Frigidaire automatic ice cube maker. And now it is available in two models; one for making miniature cubelets and another for making standard size cubes.

The ice cube maker eliminates forever the need for crushing, cracking and flaking ice.

Consider these important facts: Completely automatic! Both models make ice cubes without an instant of attention—without the turn of a hand from you! Whether you choose the unit that makes the new "cubelet" size or the model that produces standard size cubes, you can count on absolutely care-free ice-making service. There is simply nothing for you to do except help yourself from the bin of finished cubes! Ingenious Frigidaire design and features assure you dependable automatic operation from start to finish.

They pay for themselves fast! Yes, many businesses will find that either of the Frigidaire Automatic Ice Cube Makers can easily pay for itself the very first year—then continue providing ice cubes for only a few cents per hundred pounds thereafter! And that's based on average cost factors of 2c. per K.W.H. and purchased ice cubes at $1.20 per hundred pounds... Sound too good to be true? Then you're in for a pleasant, profitable surprise!

Make drinks better! Cubes or cubelets—either for better-tasting, longer-lasting, more profitable drinks! For whichever size cube you make, each will be uniformly shaped, clear, unclouded, clean, solid, with no holes! And minerals are not frozen in the cubes, but are automatically flushed down

Makes Report On Economies Of Willys Car

At the turn of the year, Willys distributors and dealers staked the largest mass driveway in the history of the automotive industry. Each dealer drove home an Aero Lark model of the new 1953 Willys in celebration of the company's 50th Anniversary Golden Jubilee.

Floyd DeHaven, Willys dealer of Scotrun, reports in connection with the mass driveway that he averaged 31.4 miles per gallon on his trip from the plant in Toledo, Ohio, encountering adverse weather conditions all the way home.

A recent test conducted by Motor Trend Magazine (results shown in the February issue) shows Willys second only to Cadillac out of twenty cars tested. This test was based on performance, handling, safety, economy and maintenance.

The company, makers of the world famous Jeep, announce that this year's production will surpass their previous production record by producing over 170,000 vehicles during the year.

The line will be broadened to include a new 4 door model and a hardtop convertible. This hardtop, called the Aero Eagle, will sell at a price which will make it one of the lowest priced hardtops on the market.

You owe it to yourself to SEE and DRIVE this new Willys before you decide on ANY car. Let DeHaven's Garage allow you to test drive the new Willys Now!

Barbara Harmon Is Next Jelke Trial Witness To Be Called In Vice Case

New York, G.P.—Barbara Harmon, 31, blonde, divorced television actress, was closeted with the district attorney yesterday as the prosecution planned another round in the vice trial of Minot Miley Jelke.

Reports seeping from the closed courtroom last week were that Miss Harmon would be the next witness, succeeding call girl Pat Ward, 19, on the stand.

A ruling is expected today from State Supreme Court Justice Benjamin F. Schwartz on a petition to end the ban against spectators and the press at the Jelke trial.

The ban has been called unconstitutional by five New York newspapers, a feature syndicate and two news services who brought the action.

Jelke, 23-year-old oleo hair, is charged with inducing Miss Ward and others to become prostitutes and living off Miss Ward's earnings.

Sgt. Clark Is Rotated From Korea

Army Sgt. Charles A. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Clark, Mountaintop, is returning to the United States from Korea under the Army's rotation program. He has served 18 months in the Far East.

Clark's wife, Evelyn lives at 609 Sampson Ave., Willow Grove, Pa.

He has been serving with the 1st Cavalry Division, which spent 17 months in the front lines of Korea before being assigned to security duty in Japan late in 1951.

World War II veterans will remember this same division landed at Lingayen Gulf on Luzon, Philippine Islands in early 1945 and raced south to help liberate Manila. American prisoners of war held at Santo Tomas University were freed by an advance column of the 1st Cavalry.

Sergeant Clark, who was assigned to Battery B of the 61st Field Artillery Battalion as a mess sergeant, is a veteran of five months in Korea with that unit. He holds the Korean and United Nations Service Ribbon.

Livengood Is Opposed To Revision

Harrisburg, G.P.—William S. Livengood, state secretary of internal affairs, yesterday opposed drafting of a new Pennsylvania constitution "by a chosen few."

"The voters have a right to know where any delegate stands," Livengood said in a statement. "No man should go to a constitutional convention until the public has been fully informed as to his views on a new constitution and what it will provide."

Livengood, an elected official referred to an administration bill up for final action in the House tomorrow.

The measure was amended last Tuesday to provide for the delegates to be nominated by political parties instead of the people. The voters would elect 90 of the 120 delegates at the November election. The remaining 30 would be appointed delegates.

Under the original bill, introduced by Rep. Albert W. Johnson McKean, Republican floor leader, all delegates would be nominated at the Spring primary.

Express Is Wrecked; Kills 21

Benevento, Italy, G.P.—Speeding at 65 miles an hour, the Bari-Naples Express crossed a closed switch here early yesterday and 9 to 10 cars hurtled off the track. At least 21 Italians were killed and 80 injured, 23 seriously.

Police arrested the engineer and his assistant. Authorities blamed the train's excessive speed through a heavy rainstorm for the accident.

Most of the 300 passengers were bound for Naples, where they had booked passage for Venezuela and a new start in life far from land-poor, overpopulated Southern Italy.

Cortland Trounces ESSTC In Swimming

Visiting Crew Sets Three New Pool Records

Cortland State Teachers College set three pool records while splashing to a 61½-22½ victory over East Stroudsburg State Teachers College on Saturday, in the Normal Hill pool.

The loss was the third straight of the current campaign for the Warriors, who have yet to register a victory.

Clarence Lephart was the big noise for the visiting red and white color bearers, as the visiting distance nee set new pool records in both the 220 and 440-yard freestyle event. Lephart lapped the entire field in the 440.

The Cortland star stroked to victory in the 220-yard event in 2:16.7, as compared to the old mark of 2:20.9, set by Long Island University in 1951.

Number Two

Lephart came back to run wild in the 440, covering the distance in 5:01.0, or 25 seconds faster than the former mark set by Lafayette.

The third new pool mark fell to the Cortland 400-yard relay team, as George Pivnick, Ron McCrindle, Dick Ball and Lephart combined to cover the course in 3:53.7, as compared to the old record of four minutes flat, set by Long Island University in 1951.

Tom Roberts, Barron "Duke" Conrad and Tom Foley were the major point producers for the losing Warriors.

Roberts and Conrad finished one-two in the 150-yard individual medley, in 1:55. Conrad picked up another second in the 200-yard backstroke, while Roberts finished second in the 200-yard breaststroke. Foley tied for first place with Pivnick in the 50-yard freestyle and third in the 100-yard freestyle.

ESSTC returns to the water on Saturday, when the Warriors swim against Brooklyn Poly, in Brooklyn, at 7 p.m.

Summary follows:
200-yard medley race—George Rapp, Dick Ball, Bill Ware won for Cortland in 3:59.7.
220-yard freestyle—Clarence Lephart, Cortland; George Brown, Cortland; Carson Deffenbaugh, ESSTC, 2:16.7 (new pool record); old mark—2:20.9.
50-yard freestyle—Tom Foley, ESSTC, and George Pivnick, Cortland, tied for first. Ron McCrindle, Cortland, third, 26 seconds.

150-yard individual medley—Tom Roberts, ESSTC; Barron Conrad, ESSTC; Ken Bonmaker, Cortland, 1:55.
Diving—Joe Seale, Cortland, 66.5 points; Mel Huggler, Cortland; Don Toth, ESSTC.

100-yard freestyle—Pivnick, Cortland; McCrindle, Cortland; Foley, ESSTC, 57.5 seconds.
200-yard backstroke—Rapp, Cortland; Conrad, ESSTC; Fred Johnson, Cortland, 2:41.8.

200-yard breaststroke—Ball, Cortland; Roberts, ESSTC; John Lammers, Cortland, 2:34.9.
440-yard freestyle—Lephart, Cortland; Norman Sklar, Cortland; Dave Lewis, ESSTC, 5:01.0 (new pool record); old mark—5:26.0.

400-yard relay—Pivnick, McCrindle, Ball, Lephart won for Cortland in 3:53.7 (new pool record); old mark—4 minutes.

Those who witnessed Friday's tussle between Stroudsburg and Whitehall report that it wasn't the same band of Mountaineers that took the measure of Catsaqua earlier in the week. A victory for the charges of Coach Sam Russell would have evened their second half slate at two wins and the same number of setbacks. However, an all-court press by the Whitehall eagles had the Mountaineers completely at their mercy during the second half, after the Stroudsburg club had emerged with a slight advantage after the first two periods of play.

Coplay was too much basketball team for East Stroudsburg in the N. Cortland St. battle, but the co-pace setting contingent received just a little more than it bargained for, before moving into a commanding lead in the third period. The game was played before one of the smallest crowds in the history of the Eastburg High gym. Although defeated, the Cavaliers showed marked improvement over their first clash with Coplay this season.

Wilson Sportsmen, the member of the Blue Mountain League that this column reported ready to fold recently, received new blood when another organization took over the financially injured club. The Sportsmen will now finish the current campaign. Sam Smith, one of Bangor High's most loyal basketball fans, missed Friday's court battle between Bangor and Pen Argyl, due to illness. Smith is a teacher at Bangor High.

Polk High, an annual power in the Monroe County League, scored 49 points in both of its games last week. The pupils of Coach Art Smith lost on Tuesday to Barrett, 50-49, and on Friday took the measure of Chestnut Hill in another thriller, 49-47. Polk winds up its campaign tomorrow by playing host to Tobehanna Township, title holder in the circuit for the fourth straight campaign. This contest will also bring down the curtain on the Monroe County League season, except for the circuit's all-star game at East Stroudsburg on Friday.

Barrett was also involved in a bit of the unusual last week, taking part in two outings that were decided with 50 points. As mentioned above Barrett took the measure of Polk on Tuesday, 50-49, but Coolbaugh picked up the 50 points on Friday and tripped Barrett, 50-48, on the Coolbaugh boards. Waymart, on the verge of clinching its fourth straight Wayne County Conference basketball crown, reportedly will stick to the same circuit and not move over to the Northern League as previously rumored.

Clarence Lephart, the one-man show star for Cortland State Teachers College, put on a tanned distance in the Normal Hill pool on Saturday, as the New Yorkers hung up an easy 61½-22½ over East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Lephart set new pool records in the 220 and 440-yard freestyle event and then anchored the Cortland club to a 400-yard relay victory in the final event. The guy is as much at home in water as a thirsty fish.

East Stroudsburg Teachers Home With Wilkes In First Of Three Basketball Games This Week

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will attempt to snap back into the victory column today, when the Warriors play host to a revenge bent Wilkes College cage machine, in the Normal Hill gymnasium.

The main event is scheduled to get underway at approximately 8:30 p.m., following a preliminary clash between the ESSTC junior varsity and Kleckner's Rockets. The first contest is slated for 7 p.m.

ESSTC has won six games thus far this season, while suffering four setbacks.

Wilkes is included on the list of ESSTC victims, the Warriors having taken the measure of Wilkes earlier in the present campaign, 74-67, on the latter's home court.

In addition to Wilkes the Warriors have won over Ithaca College, West Chester, Trenton, Paterson and Kutztown. The reversals have been inflicted by Millersville, twice; Panzer and West Chester. The West Chester loss was an 80-72 setback inflicted last Wednesday, on the West Chester court.

Today's contest is the first of three to be played by the Warriors this week. Trenton Teachers invade the Normal Hill hardwood on Wednesday and the ESSTC contingent takes on Ithaca College, at Ithaca, on Friday.

Coach Chris Denis announced last night that he hadn't decided on a probable starting lineup for the Wilkes game.

However, the popular mentor is expected to start with Joe Maioriello and Ray "Casey" Kaseman at the forward posts, while John Sloan operates at center and Tony Black and Ed "Jake" Palmer hold down the guard positions.

Lightweights Dominate Ring Card For Week

New York (AP)—Lightweights take over the boxing picture this week with lightweight champion Jimmy Carter and several of his leading challengers all listed for action.

Carter tunes up in a non-title bout with Armand Savoie in Montreal tonight while the top challengers battle for the right to a championship shot.

Georgie Araujo, the number two contender from Providence, R. I., faces rough Paddy De Marco of Brooklyn, in the top 10 at Madison Square Garden Friday night. The 10 p.m. (E.S.T.) scrap will be telecast nationally by NBC.

Saturday

In Boston Saturday, Johnny Gonzales, the number one contender from Oakland, Calif., tangles with Henry Davis, former first 10 135-pounder from Honolulu. ABC will telecast this 9 p.m. (E.S.T.) rounder coast to coast.

The Wednesday night TV show comes out of Coral Gables, Fla., where middleweight Bobby Dykes of San Antonio, Tex., will oppose Joe Miceli, the New York welter in a 10 p.m. (E.S.T.) 10-rounder. CBS will telecast.

Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore swings into action tonight at San Francisco, meeting Leonard Dugan of Oakland in a 10-round non-title affair.

Heavyweights Bob Baker of Pittsburgh and Cesar Blon of Argentina will collide in a 10-round bout at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena tonight. Dumont will telecast the 10 p.m. (E.S.T.) bout to some sections of the country.

The week's program includes:
Monday
Chicago Rainbo, Nenos Solomon, Chicago, vs. Jimmy Red Elby, Toledo, middles, eight; at Leicester, England, Randy Turpin, London, vs. Douggie Miller, Johannesburg, South Africa, middleweights, 10.

Waymart Nears Wayne County Court Crown
Newfoundland — Waymart can clinch its fourth straight Wayne County Conference title against Moscow tomorrow following its 65-61 verdict over Greene-Dreher-Sterling here on Friday. Greene-Dreher is number seven in the standings.

However, Waymart was extended by the Stags before the Warriors could cement their 12th straight decision without a defeat against league opposition this season.

Moscow kept its championship hopes alive by taking Honesdale into camp in an important battle. Second place Moscow has won six and lost one league verdict. The standings are decided on defeats alone in the Wayne County Conference.

Third Place
Northern Wayne, once a hot contender but now in third place with six favorable decisions in eight trips to the hardwood, was idle on Friday.

Honesdale, loser to Moscow, is in fourth place, with seven wins and five setbacks, while Lake Township holds down the number five position with six wins and the same number of setbacks. Lake Township downed sixth place Damascus on Friday, 52-38.

Coach Carl Bell's Damascus contingent has won four and lost seven circuit battles.

Pleasant Mount protected its eighth place standing with a 65-60 verdict over Hawley in an overtime struggle on Friday. Pleasant Mount has won two games and lost eight, while last place Hawley has lost all 11 of its league outings thus far this season.

One Game On Program
Sherman Theater and Pocono Sabres meet in the only Senior Y League game to be played at the Monroe County YMCA today. Action is carded for 7:15 p.m. Adult volleyball begins at 8:30 p.m.

Reeders Club To Meet
Reeders—Reeders baseball club, an annual entry in the Pocono Mountains League, will hold a business meeting here at the Jackson Township school on Wednesday, it was announced last night by N. E. Possinger, club president. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

The "A" League was again on top as it had three men over the 600 mark with Robert Heller turning in with a 661 on games of 193-232-236. Wally Straub went one better, while having the second highest match. He hit all three games over 200 with a 229-212-201 for 642. Frank Laize with the other match had 193-212-212 for 617. Bill Altier's tied the high match for the league as they hit 2891 and took four points from Square Bar. While Square Bar was losing four, Deerhead Inn was increasing its lead in first place and now are four points out in front of second place Square Bar.

Scheller and Kitchen continued its drive in the Record Major and are now leading by four points. Jack Darr hit 604 for high on games of 200-222-182 for second place Community Bar as it took three points from Line Material and tied them for second place. Scheller and Kitchen posted 953 and 2856 for high and Russ Scheller helped out in the 953 game with a 252 also to be high for the night.

Saturday night a telephone call from Allentown and the State tournament headquarters furnished some interesting information. Lou Erb, tournament director, states that 249 teams have signed up to date and of this number 275 of them are in the handicap division. Lou said they are endeavoring to form a Lehigh Valley squad for April 18, at 7:00 p.m. This is the first squad to bowl in the tournament and he hopes to have a team from each association in the Lehigh Valley on this squad. If you wish to be on this team inform Lou as soon as possible by filling out the blanks at any of the alleys or letting me know and I will inform the committee. The closing date for the tournament is February 28, 1953—the time is getting short.

In the Tuesday Night League at the Legion, Heeter's Moblogas posted a new high of 2532 while taking four points from Reekner's Restaurant. High men on the team were Mike Grelowski with 565, Gallagher with 545 and Fetherman with a 527. The rookies continued to set the pace as they now lead with a six-point margin over second place POS of A.

The East Stroudsburg Ladies' League came up with a new one as Chestnut Grove hit 639-638-637 in that order. The also have a good one in that one club is

In first place and four teams tied for second with the sixth stanza in third place. Gap View Inn is leading with a comfortable margin of five points over second place where the four teams are tied with a 12-point won and lost count.

Lena Dippie came out on top twice this week as she hit 492 and high in the East Stroudsburg Ladies on Tuesday and then came Friday and in the Twin Boro Ladies she added the score and hit 516 for high.

The Dave Schmidt League still has the two top teams in Stroudsburg Engine Works and Shoemakers Signs, with the Engine Works having a slight edge of three points. National Drug Co. took honors on a 903 and 218 and 555 by Rustine and Rutt, respectively. High team match was turned in by Stroudsburg Engine Works with a 2512. Gail Fegley missed high match by one pin as he hit a 554.

Bill Friedman in the E. S. Church League came up with a 560 for Temple Israel in a losing cause as they lost three points to St. Matthews. The one lone point they did win came in the last game as they hit 837 to 831 for St. Matthews.

A big game was turned in a week ago and missed in the Boiler Works league by Ted Dippie. Ted started with a spare, then came eight big strikes and in the 10th frame an eight pin didn't carry.

The Stroud Ladies could change their name to the Split League and live up to it very nicely. This week Cora Bisbing again came up with a 3-7-10 and converted it and then Mary Gernan not to be outdone when she got the 2-7-10 also converted it. There will be a meeting for the members of this league immediately after bowling this coming Thursday to discuss the plans for the end of the season banquet.

Beseker's Diner met the CLU in the County League and lost the first points they have lost this half as they came out on the short end of a three and one count.

E. S. Beverage took three points from the Eagles "B" team and this also snapped it out of first place in the "B" League and let the first half winners, Stroudsburg Auto Body, back in as the latter took four points from Otto's Grand View.

Boston Entry Wins Ladies' Skating Title

Davos, Switzerland, (AP)—Tenley Albright, a pretty 17-year-old Boston girl, won the ladies' figure-skating championship of the world for the first time in the history of the sport.

Putting on a brilliant display of her artistry, the trim blonde daughter of a Boston surgeon skated away with a unanimous first place verdict from the seven judges.

Second

Gundi Busch, 17-year-old German champion, finished second and Valda Osborn of England, European champion, was third.

A slender, 13-year-old girl from New York, Carol Heiss, skated her way into fourth place in her first international competition with a four-minute free skating display which kept the crowd of 4,000 cheering almost throughout.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to send out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked numbers give you.

Kiner Trade Talk Between Pirates, Reds Fail To Reach Agreement During Weekend Session

Pittsburgh (AP)—General Manager Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates is still receptive to offers for home-run king Ralph Kiner but the trade mart isn't buzzing.

Rickey and General Manager Gabe Paul of the Cincinnati Reds talked for several hours during the weekend but said they were no closer to a trade than before. Paul returned to Cincinnati after the confab.

"We talked over all sorts of propositions," said Rickey, "but Ralph Kiner remains Pirate property."

Asked if he would sell Kiner

if he is unable to trade him, Rickey replied:

"I've said it a thousand times before and I repeat it. I will not sell Kiner. Trade him, sure. I'm willing to listen to anyone who has an offer."

Five Players

Paul originally offered five players valued at close to $300,000 for Kiner but nothing came of the deal. One of the players on the block is outfielder-first baseman Joe Adeock. Others in proposed trade, Paul declines to name.

Meanwhile, the 30-year-old Pirate outfielder remains unsigned. Rickey talked with Kiner on his trip to the West Coast but returned without a signed contract.

Said Rickey:

"Kiner looks like he's in perfect condition. I'm sure he will sign his contract before the date he is due to report. That'll be about March 15. We understand each other pretty well about the contract. In fact, Kiner told me he considers the pact a 'mere formality.'"

Kiner, who drew $80,000 last season, is balking at a full out of 25 per cent—the maximum permitted by baseball law. He hanged out 37 round trippers with a puny .214 batting average in 1952.

New Yorkers Suffer First Cage Setback

New York—East Stroudsburg State Teachers College girls' basketball team rolled to its third straight favorable decision of the current campaign on Saturday, when the Warriettes took the measure of Hunter College, 45-39, here on the latter's Park Ave. court.

Hunter's loss was the first of the season for the New York team, as compared to four victories. In fact, it was the first setback inflicted on Hunter since PESSTC turned the trick in 1951.

The two arch rivals began their court feud back in 1945 and since that time each team has won four games and the 1948 affair resulted in a 42-42 deadlock, as no overtime periods are played in girls' basketball in case of a tie. Hunter since ESSTC turned the going in the first and last rounds on Saturday, but the ESSTC charges of Coach Genevieve Zimbar did all the damage in the second and third stanzas.

Lead
The host contingent led 15-14 at the end of a hair raising opening round, but the Warriettes broke into the lead in the second period and held the upper hand the remainder of the distance. ESSTC dominated the second round, which was tied on several occasions, 11-7, and held a 25-22 advantage at half-time.

ESSTC picked up what proved to be the winning margin in the third round, as the red and black color bearers held a 13-8 upper hand and entered the final stanza on the long end of a 38-30 count.

This lead held water, although Hunter had the better of the last quarter scoring, 9-7.

Carol Mosser, Mary Schussler, Edna Mae Michener and Doris Zerby took care of the ESSTC scoring, while Charlotte Hein, Joan Teaham, Mary Olmeda and Joan Hohenrath scored all the Hunter points.

The ESSTC lassies meet College Misericordia, at Dallas, Pa., on Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m., and then play host to Cheyney on Saturday, in the Normal Hill gym, at 2:30 p.m.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Monday, Feb. 16, 1953

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Business interests, selling, new contracts, unique deals on favored list. Personal affairs come in for share of advantages.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—You're a level head and an alert mind to use today to further sound ideas. Don't look for too quick returns, go along without haste or worry.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Influences stimulating for you who help yourself right. Mercury lends mild rays for your work, business matters.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer)—If you conduct your affairs sensibly and avoid unpleasant controversies, you can expect appreciable gains. Stay really after 5 p.m.

July 21 to August 20 (Leo)—Some irritating tendencies concerning personal affairs. Be wise, sidestep unnecessary disputes; don't be dictatorial. Silence is golden now.

August 21 to September 20 (Virgo)—Mercury, your planet, should be helpful in both mental and business problems now. Outlook generous if you don't worry over unimportant matters.

September 21 to October 20 (Libra)—Contingencies for betterment of home, matters required to help others are auspicious now. Be cooperative; cultivate friends.

October 21 to November 20 (Scorpio)—

Friends rally around in your day. Show Scorpio's better side always; you have much talent, use it to advantage.

November 21 to December 20 (Sagittarius)—Stars configurations highly sensibly aggressive effort to bring desired results. Be carefully explicit in methods, avoid uncertainties.

December 21 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Investigations, research, surveying, planning for stirring operations top favored. Avoid too much sentimentality. Adopt happy medium attitude.

January 21 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Stimulating outlook for necessary projects. Including an avocation of health giving activity on favored list. You may have to double effort for better progress.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Looks like some heavy going ahead, but don't let it affect bright attitude. You will carry on with fair success.

You Born Today: Generally mild, sympathetic. This is commendable in most instances but it can lead you into troubled circumstances. Sometimes horns outshine before you know the facts; watch that! Aquarians succeed best in pursuits which require concentration, steady application. Can do well as inventor, artist, writer, musical composer.

Children's Guidance Worker Due

Mrs. S. R. Josephson, social worker from the Northampton-Monroe Child Guidance Center, will make her regular call at General Hospital Tuesday afternoon.

Parents who wish to discuss child problems with Mrs. Josephson may make an appointment with her for Tuesday by calling the Center office in Easton—phone number Easton 2-6203—or by writing to the Northampton-Monroe Child Guidance Center, 220 Bushkill St., Easton.

Those who would rather contact a member of the local committee are allowed to do so, but personal contact between parent and the center is preferred.

Mrs. Josephson comes to the General Hospital twice-monthly on the first and third Tuesdays. A room has been set aside for her use there.

During the afternoon the social worker will talk over adjustment problems and emotional upsets which parents have noticed in their children.

From these initial interviews, Mrs. Josephson and the parent may work out a plan of action which will—if considered advisable—include a series of observations of the child at the Easton office.

The Monroe-Northampton Center is maintained expressly for the benefit of children in the two counties.

Private Initiative Has Been Stamped Out In Past Decade, Eshback Claims

Private initiative has been stamped out in the past decade, Pike County Republicans heard recently at Greeley.

The remark was by J. Russell Eshback, chairman of the county's Republican Committee, at a Lincoln's Day dinner at Greeley Casino.

Of the many freedoms needed, he told 300 Republicans, the one of individualism is most important—because "lack of attention to these individual matters will lead to despotism."

President Judge Fred W. Davis, of Monroe County, who attended with his wife, was among those who lauded Abraham Lincoln. He gave his understanding of Lincoln's philosophy.

Gene Smith, State secretary, applauded Pennsylvania's achievements. Smith described August Metz Jr., assemblyman from Pike County, as one of the "most outstanding figures in Pennsylvania politics." Smith also touched on Lincoln.

Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe praised the work of Assemblyman Metz, and the progress of Pike County.

Others attending were Mrs. Ruth E. Spangenberg, Wayne County treasurer; the Wayne County District Attorney Nelson Jr., Arthur Wall, Wayne assemblyman, Lloyd J. Gumble, Pike County commissioner; Calvin J. Rosencrance, Pike prothonotary; Pike's sheriff Fred Kellogg; Randolph D. Gregory, associate judge of Pike County; Sidney L. Krawitz, Pike solicitor; and other officials and residents.

A half cup of currant jelly beaten with a couple of tablespoons of hot water makes a delicious glaze for the hutt or shank half of a ham. If you use a fully-cooked, ready-to-eat ham heat the meat through then score the fat in a diamond pattern and stick a whole clove in each diamond. Spread with the jelly and water and glaze in the oven.

World Needs Return To Religion

"The greatest need of the world today is a return to religion," a leading Seventh-day Adventist Church official declared here Saturday.

Speaking at the worship services of the Stroudsburg Adventist Church, T. E. Unruh, president of the East Pennsylvania Conference of Adventists, Reading, told local members that "the world is facing one of the greatest crisis periods in history."

He warned that the only answer to survival is faith.

During the discourse Mr. Unruh stressed several points necessary if victory of faith is to be achieved.

One—The discovery of a great need.

Two—A clear cut discovery of Gods will concerning that need.

Three—Finally as men move forward to do the will of God victory will be achieved.

The congregation, showed great interest as Mr. Unruh explained in detail about the 700 acre tract of land the conference has recently purchased near Hamburg, Pa. as a site for a new secondary boarding academy for Adventist youth.

Several of the school's youth are already anticipating enrolling at the academy when it is scheduled for opening when the fall term begins in 1954.
